

Overload meter

How does overload increase during the day? How does it progress?
At what point does it grow too big?